

What is the purpose of this document?

ASCO Group Limited and its subsidiaries is a "data controller". This means that we are responsible for deciding how we hold and use personal information about you. You are being provided a copy of this privacy notice because you are applying for work with us (whether as an employee, worker or contractor). It makes you aware of how and why your personal data will be used, namely for the purposes of the recruitment exercise, and how long it will usually be retained for. It provides you with certain information that must be provided under the General Data Protection Regulation ((EU) 2016/679) (GDPR).

Data protection principles

We will comply with data protection law and principles, which means that your data will be:

- Used lawfully, fairly and in a transparent way.
- Collected only for valid purposes that we have clearly explained to you and not used in any way that is incompatible with those purposes.
- Relevant to the purposes we have told you about and limited only to those purposes.
- Accurate and kept up to date.
- Kept only as long as necessary for the purposes we have told you about.
- Kept securely.

The kind of information we hold about you

In connection with your application for work with us, we will collect, store, and use the following categories of personal information about you:

- The information you have provided to us in your curriculum vitae (CV) and covering letter.
- The information you have provided on our application form, including name, title, address, telephone number, personal email address, notice period/availability, whether you are willing to relocate, if you are a former employee, if you know or are related to any current employee, your current salary and benefits package, your salary expectations, your evidence of right to work in the UK, where you heard about the vacancy and any additional information you provide in support of your application.
- Any information you provide to us prior to and during an interview process such as a copy of your passport, driving licence, training and educational certificates, birth certificate, marriage certificate, national insurance number, Disclosure Scotland certificate.
- Any assessment information undertaken as part of the recruitment process to determine your competence and suitability for the role.

We may also collect, store and use the following "special categories" of more sensitive personal information:

- Information about your health, including any medical condition, health and sickness records.
- Information about criminal convictions and offences.

How is your personal information collected?

We collect personal information about candidates from the following sources:

- You, the candidate.
- Driver licence checks from a background check provider as required, from which we collect the following categories of data: confirmation of valid driving licence within required categories, CPC information and tachograph information.
- Your named referees.
- Our Occupational Health Provider, from which we collect information relating to your health and suitability for employment.
- Data from third parties from a publicly accessible source, e.g. LinkedIn and other job boards.

How we will use information about you

We will use the personal information we collect about you to:

- Assess your skills, qualifications, and suitability for the role.
- Consider you for other roles for which we believe you may be suitable.
- Carry out background and reference checks, where applicable.
- Communicate with you about the recruitment process.
- Keep records related to our hiring processes.
- Comply with legal or regulatory requirements.

It is in our legitimate interests to decide whether to appoint you to the role since it would be beneficial to our business to appoint someone to that role.

We also need to process your personal information to decide whether to enter into a contract of employment with you.

Having received your CV and covering letter and/or your application form we will then process that information to decide whether you meet the basic requirements to be shortlisted for the role. If you do, we will decide whether your application is strong enough to invite you for an interview. If we decide to call you for an interview, we will use the information you provide to us at the interview to decide whether to offer you the role. If we decide to offer you the role, this will be subject to certain criteria and we will then take up references and as required ask you to attend a pre-employment medical and to provide a Basic Disclosure Certificate and participate in any security checks if necessary for the role before confirming your appointment.

If you fail to provide personal information

If you fail to provide information when requested, which is necessary for us to consider your application (such as evidence of qualifications or work history), we will not be able to process your application successfully. For example, if we require references for this role and you fail to provide us with relevant details, we will not be able to take your application further.

How we use particularly sensitive personal information

We will use your particularly sensitive personal information in the following ways:

- We will use information about your disability status to consider whether we need to make appropriate reasonable adjustments during the recruitment process and as required to support you in employment.
- We will request you provide a Basic Disclosure Certificate only for roles where there is a specific legal or contractual requirement for this information to be provided in relation to the role.

Information about criminal convictions

We envisage that we will process information about criminal convictions.

We will collect information about your criminal convictions history if we would like to offer you the role (conditional on checks and any other conditions, such as references, being satisfactory). We are required to carry out a criminal record check in order to satisfy ourselves that there is nothing in your criminal convictions history which makes you unsuitable for the role. In particular:

- We are legally required by the Civil Aviation Authority to carry out Basic Disclosure checks for those carrying out known consigner work.

We have in place an appropriate policy document and safeguards which we are required by law to maintain when processing such data.

Automated decision-making

You will not be subject to decisions that will have a significant impact on you based solely on automated decision-making.

How long will you use my information for?

After this period, we will securely destroy your personal information in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.

We may retain your personal information on file for a longer period on the basis that a further opportunity may arise in future and we may wish to consider you for that.
